Mark Dreschel appointed to the position of Vice President Health, Safety and Environment

Mark Dreschel is appointed to the position of vice president health, safety and environment. Since joining the company in the fall of 2011 as the national safety director, Mark has assumed the leadership of Bird's safety team and successfully implemented the core of our safety program. Mark's dedication to the concept of safe production coupled with his outgoing leadership style will ensure that safety continues to be forefront in Bird's operations.

Congratulations Mark!
