Longer Cycle, Significant Demand Trends Public and Private Clients

Government programs supporting investments in transportation, energy, water and wastewater, telecommunications, and public facilities include the Investing in Canada Plan, Canada Infrastructure Bank, Canada Growth Fund, and other federal and provincial budget commitments.

The Investing in Canada Plan, launched in 2016, laid out federal government commitments to invest more than $180 billion over 12 years (2016-2028) in public transit projects, green infrastructure, social infrastructure, trade and transportation routes, and Canada's rural and northern communities ~$150 billion invested to date.

$125 to $140 billion

2022 Federal Budget estimated the investment in net-zero transition requires $125 billion to $140 billion annually through 2050.

| Double Electricity Supply | Canada needs to roughly double its electricity supply. Electrification requires investment in energy generation projects, including expanding clean energy and improving power distribution and transmission systems. |
|---------------------------------|--|
| $110 to $270 billion | Estimates of Canada's "infrastructure deficit" range from $110- $270 billion. Additional investments are required to improve energy efficiency – residential and commercial buildings are Canada's third-largest source of greenhouse gases. |
| +$70 billion | Public transportation opportunities include Ontario's planned $70 billion for transit investments over the next ten years, Canada's $15 billion for public transit over the next eight years, as well as significant spending across the balance of provinces. |
| >$40 billion | Nuclear opportunities are significant, notably the recently proposed Bruce Nuclear Expansion, the Pickering Refurbishment, and SMR Infrastructure initiatives. |
